Police contract settled

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY - A three-year contract valued at more than $179,000 was approved for the police department Tuesday night.

The contract, involving $18,000 in benefits and $161,000 in pay raises, was unanimously approved at a special City Council meeting.

The vote was much closer among members of the policemen's union, local 1347 of the American Federation of State and County Municipal Employees, said Union President Jeff Parker.

Twenty-five members voted on the contract and it passed, 13-12, he said.

"We're glad it's through," Parker said, but added the union members felt they deserved more.

"This doesn't mean going back to business as usual," said 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish. The alderman said past city indebtedness makes it necessary that all raises at all times be scrutinized.

The city is still negotiating for a contract with the fire department's union. The union may seek arbitration, said a member of the city's Negotiations Committee, 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen.

"The possibility (for arbitration) is still there," Worthen said. "We will be meeting again."

Arbitrated contracts can become an annual affair, Worthen said, with both sides taking risks on an arbitrator's decision. He said the police contract meant both sides avoided a risk.

"I don't like to gamble with city money," Worthen said.

The policemen agreed to the following provisions:

- $52,000 in raises will be paid in 1985-86, a 4 percent increase;

- $67,000 in raises will be paid in 1986-87, a 4 percent raise, and $18,000 in benefits will be added;

- $42,000 in raises will be paid in 1987-88, a 3 percent raise;

- An increase in the clothing allowance from $150 to $330;

- An incentive for attending school that pays $5 per college credit hour for up to 60 hours, with persons making a grade of "C" or better being paid for books and tuition;

- Extra pay for later shifts starting in 1986-87, allowing 15 cents an hour more for those who work from 4 p.m. to midnight, and 30 cents per hour more for those who work the midnight shift; and

- A difference in pay of $85 per month for each advancement in rank.

Liquor, pigeons fly high as problems

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Questions ranging from liquor licenses to pigeon problems were asked of Mayor Von Dee Cruse and other city officials at a public forum held May 8 at Township Hall. Approximately 50 people attended the forum. Of those, only six asked questions.

"This may be a small begining," Cruse said, "but when this gets going this place is going to be full."

ALSO ON THE Dais were Cruse's assistant, Henry Bieniecki, Comptroller Joe Mikovic, Assistant City Attorney John Hopkins and Director of Economic Development Alan Ortbals.

Several aldermen and city officials were among those in the audience.

City Attorney Mark Goldenberg

served as moderator for the forum.

"This is the first mayoral forum in Granite City in recent memory," he said.

THE FIRST QUESTION was asked by Cathy Holder, an employee at Schnucks Market, concerning Cruse's decision to grant a liquor license to National Super Market.

"I'm very concerned about the liquor license going to National,"

Cruse outlines pledges kept

GRANITE CITY — The public forum on May 8 also marked the first anniversary of the inauguration of Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

During the last 20 minutes of the forum, Cruse outlined from a brochure the pledges he made in last year's election and some of the things he has done to fulfill them.

One of those pledges was to hold public forums on a regular basis. Thursday's forum was the first since Cruse's inauguration.

"I believe in these town forums," he said. "I like to hear from the people if they have something on their minds."

Souvenir causes concern

GRANITE CITY — Looking through her late husband's Army foot locker caused some alarm Tuesday for a rural Granite City woman.

Ethel Smith of 4364 Highway 162 and her brother-in-law, Fred Giffin, were looking through the foot locker in a shed in Smith's backyard. Among the photographs and other military memorabilia, they found a hand grenade with the pin still in it.

Giffin, a World War II veteran, thought the grenade was live.

"I TOLD HER (Ethel) to call the police and get rid of it," Giffin said.

"I knew the grenade was in there," Smith said. "I knew one was in there for 32 years."

She said her husband, George, who died in December 1953, brought the grenade home as a souvenir when he got out of the Army in 1952. It has been in the foot locker ever since.

"He told me the pin was in it," she said. "I never thought anything of it."

THREE DEPUTIES from the Madison County Sheriff's Department and two specialists from the 50th Explosive Ordnance Detachment at the St. Louis Area Support Center in Granite City responded to Smith's home to see if the pineapple-shaped grenade was really live.

Fears were relieved as Staff Sgt. Robert Lence Farmer pulled the grenade out of its container. The blue-colored grenade was only a practice grenade with no explosive in it.

Tuesday's incident was the 33rd such call the detachment has responded to this year.

"There are lots of World War II and Korean War dummy grenades lying around," said Howard DeMere, an Army spokesman.

FARMER EMPHASIZED the military and police do not want to get people in trouble for having the grenades. They just want to get rid of them.

A PRACTICE GRENADE is held by Staff Sgt. Robert Lence Farmer, a member of the 50th Explosive Ordnance Detachment. The grenade, which was thought to be live, was found in a foot locker at the home of Ethel Smith of rural Granite City.

Nature unleashed

AS QUICK AS A FLASH, a lightning bolt strikes south of Madison as a series of thunderstorms pass through the area. The week-long barrage of storms has resulted in considerable rainfall, much needed for crops and lawns.

Two abducted

The abduction of a man and a woman, both occurring Tuesday in the Venice area but unrelated, are under investigation by police.

Dale L. Campbell Jr. of Granite City was abducted at knife-point and left tied to a tree at Lewis and Clark State Park, Illinois 3 at the Hartford Canal, about 7:45 a.m. Tuesday.

ROBBED OF $64, Campbell remained bound by the hands and wrists until freed by a Madison County sheriff's deputy about three hours after the assailant had fled on foot.

A few hours earlier, a Jerseyville woman was abducted on South Fourth Street, Venice, and taken to the Bend Road area by a man, who stole her auto when she managed to escape from him.

She got to Illinois 203 at Bend Road and flagged down the driver of a passing pickup truck. He drove her to the Madison Police Department and Venice authorities were notified.

THE VICTIM'S 1978 Camaro was recovered at 6 a.m. Tuesday in a field near the Venice-Logan Technical Center on South Fourth Street by a Venice officer.

Strike out against leukemia

GRANITE CITY — Area residents have an opportunity to strike out against leukemia this weekend in a bowl-a-thon sponsored by the Granite City Bowling Center.

Organized by Bowling Center owner Henry Ross and manager Tom Cathy, the bowl-a-thon is to raise money for Catherine "Catie" DeCourcy, 4, of Granite City.

DeCourcy began chemotherapy for acute lymphocytic leukemia, a form of cancer, in November 1984. Because the family was not insured when she was diagnosed, the DeCourcys are faced with tremendous hospital and clinic bills.

Each of her weekly visits to Children's Hospital, St. Louis, costs $240. Some drugs cost $40 per injection. Every time there is an outbreak of chickenpox, Catie must receive a $250 injection.

Catie's illness is currently in remission, but she has 18 months of painful treatment ahead of her.

She undergoes spinal taps every eight weeks and must consume many cancer drugs. She is very familiar with the treatment of the disease and can pronounce the names of all the medications she must take.

Catie understands she must receive the treatment, or she may die.

Yet, she remains a little girl. "I'm sorry you're sick," a hospital nurse told her.

"I'm not sick, I have leukemia. My hair has all grown back," Catie told her.

Sara, her identical twin, is periodically tested for the disease. The risk of cancer is greatly increased in identical twins.

Currently, children with Catie's disease have a 60 percent chance of surviving leukemia, said Garret Brodeur, Catie's doctor.

Bowl-a-thon organizers plan to begin the fundraiser with a team event Friday at 7 p.m. Four-member teams will pay $10 per person to bowl. The price will include beer.

Saturday's "crazy bowl" event will begin at 2 p.m. This event will cost $7 for each three games. Open bowling will begin at 9 a.m. and cost $1 per game.

Local businesses have donated prizes to be awarded throughout the event.

As an added attraction, the Ainal Shrine Temple "Compacts" will perform in the parking lot of the center at 11 a.m.

Dixieland jazz music will be performed by the Nostalgia Band on Saturday afternoon in the Bowling Center.

All proceeds will be donated to Catie's Fund for medical expenses.

Postal hiring register being signed in area

Applications for clerk-carrier testing to establish the hiring register for the following post offices will be accepted May 19 through May 23:

Granite City, Madison, Venice, Collinsville, Maryville, Edwardsville, Roxana, Glen Carbon and South Roxana.

A spokesman said, "I do not want to give the impression that we will be hiring great numbers of people in the coming months, but when the need arises to hire, we will be using the updated hiring register to fulfill the needs."

Those desiring to take the test may make application at any of the above listed post offices. All qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to race, color, national origin, sex, political affiliations or any other non-merit factor.

Anna Claggett leads Venice Park Board

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer
Anna A. Claggett was elected president of the Venice Park Board at its annual reorganizational meeting last week.

She succeeds the Rev. John Henry Williams, who did not seek another term as president.

JOAN SILAS, a Venice park commissioner for 11 years, was named vice president.

Appointments to various positions within the Venice Park District will be made at the next board meeting, Claggett said.

The new president won a six-year board term in April 1985. It was her first try for elective office. At that time, she emphasized interest in beautification, recreation and physical fitness programs for adults.

SHE HAS SINCE served as recreation chairman for the park district and has organized a "Women at Work" physical fitness program which is scheduled to start this week and continue through May.

Claggett was born in Venice and is a lifetime resident of the community.

She is a laboratory technician and has been employed at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

A 1981 GRADUATE of Madison High School, she also is a graduate of Gradwohl Medical Technological School in St. Louis and has completed continuing education courses at St. Louis University.

An active member of Salem Baptist Church in Venice, Claggett is an officer of the Venice Board and church chorus.

She is the mother of three children: Charles Edward, Carvel D., and Erwin Cranston, and daughter, Tina Louise. She has a granddaughter, Catherine.

GC library is offering "Openers"

The spring issue of "Openers" is now available at the Granite City Public Library. Organized by the American Library Association, "Openers" is a quarterly feature paper that reports on books, television programs and movies.

In the spring issue, "Openers" talks with former Olympic gold medal winner Bruce Jenner 10 years after his decathlon victory in Montreal. The article discusses Jenner's fitness and diet habits along with a list of books on health and fitness.

Academy award-winning actress Goldie Hawn is featured on the front cover. Hawn is helping promote libraries this year.

The spring issue includes a look at the sinking of the Titanic. Robert Ballard's recent discovery of the ill-fated luxury liner has put the ship back in the news.

"Openers" discusses the fascination with the Titanic, along with recent magazine articles on Ballard's expedition.

"Openers" is made available locally by the Friends of the Library, an organization which works to support and promote the Granite City Public Library. Free copies of the publication may be picked up at either the main library, 2001 Delmar Ave., or the branch library, 2020 Johnson Road.

City foots bill for school's trash

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Answers were given May 6 at the Granite City Council meeting why the city "picks up the tab" for trash removal at Granite City schools.

Township Attorney William Schooley told the alderman the free trash removal started in 1980 when the 19th Street Overpass was being constructed.

The city needed three parcels of land for completion of the overpass. The land was part of the property at District 9's administrative offices at 20th and Adams streets.

The school district transferred the land to the city with the agreement the city would pick up trash from all its schools within the city limits, according to the agreement which was drafted by Schooley.

The cost to the city is a slightly more than $27,000 per year to collect trash from the schools. The agreement is in effect as long as the city is responsible for trash pickup, either by city employees or contract, according to the agreement.

"I think the city has paid the school district dearly," said 2nd Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer. "If I had my dollars here, I'd write the schools a letter and let them be going to pick it up for them for the rest of the school year," Whitmer said, "and starting Sept. 1 they would have to pick it up themselves."

"In the end it all comes out the same pocket," said 2nd Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schilling Jr., who is also assistant principal at Granite City High School.

BABES substance abuse class for Venice elementary pupils

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

All present indications point to increasingly younger children being exposed to and becoming involved in substance abuse.

Recognizing this trend has prompted the Venice School Board to approve an innovative program for first, second and third grade pupils starting in the 1986-87 school year.

EARLY INTERVENTION are the key words in learning about substance abuse, Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said this week.

The seven-week Beginning Alcohol and Addictions Basic Education Studies (BABES) program will be presented this fall to children in Venice's primary grades by the Piasa Health Care agency of Wood River.

"Rick Everage (Venice assistant basketball coach) brought this program to my attention and I see this as something that would be beneficial to the school district," Vickers said, recommending board members' approval.

"PIASA HAS TRAINED people to conduct the program and Everage has agreed to coordinate it," the administrator said.

The primary prevention program is designed to give children a lifetime of protection from substance abuse, a spokesman for the non-profit health care agency has said. Piasa specializes in the prevention and treatment of alcohol abuse and other drug abuse.

BABES accomplishes this by assisting young people of various age levels to develop positive living skills and by providing them with accurate, non-judgmental information about the use and abuse of alcohol and other drugs.

BOARD MEMBER Alvester Salmond asked whether the program will be open to students in all grade levels.

"No," Vickers replied. "They do work with all grades, but this program is specifically geared to the young ones."

"Last year and the year before, they worked with our students at the junior high level," he said.

Materials in the BABES program are created by working with children in pre-elementary and early elementary school groups. The materials include bright, colorful, believable and lovable puppets and interesting and understandable stories.

CHILDREN RESPOND when they watch the puppets and listen to the imaginative stories, blending actual child experiences told by youngsters participating in earlier sessions, plus the guidance of experienced educators, the program counselors said.

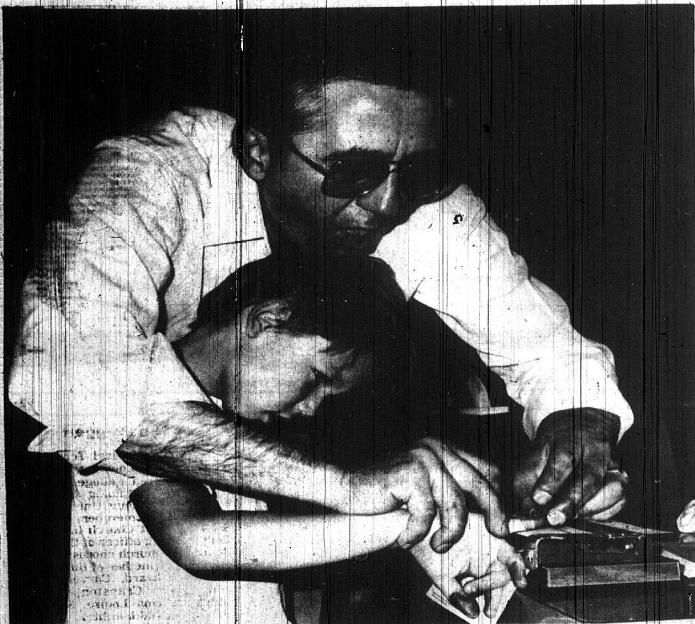

Health-related attitudes, beliefs and behaviors are formed at an early age. Many psychologists believe these are set before age 5, it was explained.

Responses of children to BABES demonstrate that attitudes regarding substance use and abuse and other health-related behaviors exist at this age. If such attitudes are not appropriate they can be positively redirected, the educators said.

INFORMATION is presented in a manner designed to gain the attention of children and to cause them to develop a desire for healthful living.

It also gives them the ability to better understand how to protect themselves from alcohol and chemical dependency situations among their peers and within a family structure.

"I think we should give Everage a big pat on the back. He does a lot for our kids and goes from morning until night," Board President Wilbert Glasper said.

Fingerprinted

IDENTIFYING LOST CHILDREN was the purpose of the "Kids ID Program" held here May 1. Lt. Col. Robert Astorian, top, makes a fingerprint record of Bryan Correa, 6, son of Janet Correa of Granite City. Each such record will be kept by the parent and given to police in case a child becomes missing. The program was sponsored by the International House of Pancakes in cooperation with the Granite City Police Department.

Acts 1:8... "You shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."

What a positive statement from God's Word! You shall receive power, and it shall come from the Holy Ghost. Take some sound advice please — Do not be afraid of the Holy Ghost. God gave His Spirit so that we can have power and be witnesses for Him.

Since the Holy Ghost is God's way of empowering us for service, shouldn't we receive it without fear? God wants to help you, not harm you. Jesus came, that we might have life and have it more abundantly. He said, "I am going away, but I will send you another Comforter, even the Holy Ghost, and he will abide with you forever!"

What God has promised has been given. Why not ask him for the Spirit Baptism he wants you to have?

He will give it to you today.

Politics prevailing in District 9

Statements by District 9's school board members that they are not playing politics contradict their actions.

District hirings have definite political overtones. A board member is overheard saying who would be hired for a job before interviews are conducted, and his comments prove correct.

A teacher-administrator committee's recommendation on a job position is discarded and the committee decides the candidate should no longer be involved in its original task of recommending administrative personnel.

Persons who score lower on tests get district jobs. Persons who associate politics with education in District 9 seem justified, and the recent hiring of four secretaries increases the association.

Some of the new secretaries appear less qualified than persons not chosen. Two typed under 40 words per minute; one had not worked as a district substitute, as had been past district practice. Though other factors, such as ability to work with people, must be considered, such arbitrary evaluations open the selection process to criticism.

Politics seems also to be an underlying motive in the "declaratory judgment" being sought by the board against its fellow member, David Partney.

Consider the board wants a judge to rule about whether the many long, closed-door board sessions are being held in partial violation of the Illinois Open Meetings Act.

Consider the board already got and threw out an opinion from the state's attorney's office that parts of the meetings probably do violate the act.

Consider board members were informed, through this newspaper, that a free, researched opinion on the issue could be received from the Illinois Attorney General's office, but the option was ignored.

Considering these points, it seems the board doesn't need to use taxpayers' money for an attorney to get a judge's opinion, but that's what is occurring.

To defend his position, Partney must dig into his own pocket to hire an attorney. It appears Partney is being financially punished for questioning the board. That, too, seems political.

Some of District 9's board members indicate there are no political motives behind their actions. Their motives, they imply, have nothing to do with favors, friendships or paybacks.

They object to politics being associated in any way with their actions.

But it is.

Chance for all to lend a hand

The "Hands Across America" project at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 25, appears to be capturing the interest of many Quad-City Area people even though the nationwide chain of linked hands will not pass through this community. Goal of the event is to raise money to help hungry and homeless individuals and families in the United States.

The circuitous, 4,000-mile route from Los Angeles to New York travels north through Missouri and into St. Louis County, crossing the Mississippi River into Alton.

Registration to participate is being conducted this week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The St. Louis metropolitan area Hands Across America information telephone number is 1-814-421-1400. In addition, plans for registration in the lobby of the Edwardsville Holiday Inn on Illinois 157 have been announced for this Saturday evening, May 17, in connection with a "Hands Across" dance to be held from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m. at the Holiday Inn.

A project of USA For Africa, Hands Across America will unite millions of Americans to raise funds; those joining hands in the long line will pay for the opportunity to do so.

Celebrity participants designated so far include Kathleen Turner in Missouri, Jack Youngblood and Oprah Winfrey in Illinois and David Hasselhoff in Indiana. To see or hold the hand of Olivia Newton-John, it would be necessary to go to California; James Darren and Kevin Bacon, Pennsylvania; Mary Lou Retton, Washington, D.C.; and Lily Tomlin and Bernadette Peters in New York.

Those joining hands will contribute a minimum of $10, and there are expectations of raising $60 million. The associate sponsors, Coca-Cola and Citicorp, have promised a quick tally. Plans call for all of the money to go to feed and house needy Americans.

A contribution is a must to participate, but it isn't necessary to get married, although that is what's planned by a couple in New Jersey.

Of course, it also isn't necessary to join the chain of hands in order to give to the Hands Across America cause. To make a pledge, the national hot line phone number is 1-800-USA-9000.

The campaign question is a good one: Won't you lend a hand?

Firefighters help area seek industry

To the editor:

We, the members of Granite City Firefighters Local 253, are proud to become members of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and welcome this new and expanding role of ours in the community.

We extend our thanks to R.C. Bush who, through his vision and knowledge of industrial development, has come to view us as an important element in the triad of business, labor and government so necessary for a community that wishes to retain and expand its industrial base.

It is hoped that our position of being a bridging link between this above triad of elements, namely our being solid union members as well as city employees, will contribute to the unity of those parts that are necessary for a community's economic survival.

We are aware, additionally, of how vitally important it is for a community to have a clean and attractive environment, along with a community sense of pride, if it is to attract new industry to the area along with retaining the industries already here.

The efforts we have begun here will continue throughout the next station and, hopefully, throughout the city as people learn more of the importance of this to our area's future prosperity.

The fire service historically has been a place where a community selects through written, physical and oral exams a local group of men who dedicate themselves as a profession to the safety and welfare of their community.

This community can be proud of the men on this department and their personal qualities. Many have college degrees — including masters' degrees — while others are yet pursuing degrees in areas as diverse as industrial geography, earth sciences, public administration and teaching as well as fire science.

By more fully utilizing these resources within us, we hope to make additional contributions to the welfare of the community we serve.

Thinks alderwoman failed constituents

To the editor:

It is this writer's opinion that our elected officials are supposed to represent us, the people of the precinct, when the occasion occurs. However, at the zoning commission hearing held May 8, this did not occur.

Instead, our alderperson proceeded to try and make the people (her constituents) look uniformed and narrow-minded. She focused on only one part of three-part issues.

She made it look as if we were against one part when actually we were against another part that she refused to discuss.

When the people voted 100 percent against the issue being presented, our alderwoman simply turned to the zoning commission and threw up both hands. As a result, the issue passed as all the people sat in amazement.

I believe it a sad day when persons we elect to represent us have no concern and totally disregard the wants of the people who elect them.

I hope Mrs. Perjak will be harassed a little more open-minded to the wants and wishes of her people if she is ever needed to represent them again. However, if she performs as in the past it will be a sad day for them.

So, in closing, thank you, Sharon and the Zoning Commission. Apparently you did a good job for someone.

Readers react

Jamie Partney, Second grade

"My favorite subject is gym. I like when we play tag and volleyball. We might go to Oregon to see my aunt. During the summer we play freeze tag and I play T-ball, probably shortstop."

Ready for summer vacation?

These Prather Elementary School students were asked if they like school and if they are ready for their summer vacation, which begins in a few weeks.

Carla Venne, First grade

"Yes, I like reading a lot. We're going to Tablerock (Lake). I'm going to fish and swim. During the summer I swim in my pool at home and like to play with the kids in our neighborhood."

Desmond Watkins, First grade

"Yes, I like school. My favorite subject is reading. I like to swim during the summer and we might see my Grandma, who lives in Virginia."

Applauds liquor license for market

To the editor:

For decades, self-serving interests have blocked attempts to permit supermarkets in Granite City to sell package liquor. Until now.

The granting of a license to the National Supermarket is a real breakthrough — as Mayor Von Dee Cruse says, "basic free enterprise," which up to now has been limited to a select few.

I remember a laughable statement by a vigorous opponent to granting Schnucks Market a license who stated "...people would be rolling in the streets, etc." Why, because imbibers would be drinking at home? Early on, Cruse is proving to be a very progressive mayor.

JAMES BUCKMAN
2036 Washington Ave.

Disappointed by liquor license action

To the editor:

May I "thank" our mayor, Mr. Von Dee Cruse, for giving National Foods a liquor license.

You can't trust anyone nowadays. We Christians do not stand for that (liquor in food stores). We love our grocery stores and are proud of our new National Foods. But I will stay out, now. I will not vote for you again, Mr. Cruse.

GC WOMAN VOTER

Hoped mayor was for a better town

To the editor:

I read in the newspaper our mayor gave National Foods a liquor license.

The mayor apparently is not against gambling or liquor because he owned a tavern or still does.

As far as I know, everyone is entitled to clean up their spots. And we sure thought he would.

Many of us Christians thought he would; we voted him into office to have a cleaner town.

It looks like liquor and abortions are here to stay. If we Christians stick together and stay out of National, maybe National will give up the dirty work of this town and help keep it clean.

Column did injustice, was in bad taste

To the editor:

About a week ago on the front page of the Journal under the heading "50 Years Ago," it told about a robbery, listing several people's names who were involved in it.

I do not know the people. However, I think it unjust to print something about them that happened 50 years ago.

Perhaps they became good citizens and the grandchildren knew nothing about it.

They might have moved from this area many years ago. Nevertheless, to bring this up again 50 years later is really not necessary. Was there no other news 50 years ago?

I hope you refrain from doing this in the future.

More than 300 received tax advice

To the editor:

The Tax-Aide program of the Granite City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) assisted over 300 citizens, age 60 and over, with their income tax returns as well as their "Circuit Breaker" forms.

They also served a large number of low-income and handicapped with their returns. Locally, this completes over 12 years of this voluntary service.

Madison seniors honor member

By Donna Kostecki
Correspondent

A surprise "This is your life" celebration was held honoring Mrs. Frances Zabotka, 82, last week at a Madison Senior Citizens meeting.

She was selected by the senior citizens for the recognition. The event was held at the Madison recreation center with decorations in spring colors.

The tables were set with vases of spring flowers and the center table was decorated with three centerpieces of white and blue hand-made paper flowers made by Mrs. Georgia Wargin. A special centerpiece of mixed spring flowers was provided by Mayor John Bellico. Betty Ballentine sang several songs, accompanied by pianist Dorothy Lionberger.

Family members present for the occasion were the honoree's son, Edward Zabotka, and his wife, Bernadette; her two daughters, Mrs. Adele Weyand and Mrs. Eleanor Vrabec; her sister, Stella Miller; her brother, Anthony Zolner; and Norma LaRosa.

Others in attendance were Jane Modrusic, for Mayor Bellico, who was unable to attend, Alexis Lux, recreation director's secretary, and Jim Broadway, recreation director.

Frances Zabotka

A corsage was presented to Mrs. Zabotka by her daughter, Eleanor. President Mildred Shifter presented Mrs. Zabotka with a plaque, "This is your life," from the senior citizen members. Mickey Krusec offered prayer and a buffet lunch was served by Voloski's.

Shifter read the story of Mrs. Zabotka's life, noting she was married 38 years to Adam Zabotka before his death in 1960. In addition to her daughters and son who were present, she has another son, Vincent Zabotka, eight grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

In recent years, after retiring from her position with Dr. Gale Jones of Granite City, she remained active by catering for weddings.

She was an organizer of the Sacred Heart Society of St. Mary's Church, and helped prepare chicken dinners for the annual St. Mary's three-day picnic.

The program will continue through May 31 and costs $10 per person. Mrs. Anna Claggett, Venice Park Board president, said,

Those wishing to participate may register Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at the Venice Recreation Center, 324 Broadway, or call 451-7201 or 451-6253 for further details.

Recorder office breaking records

The Madison County Recorder of Deeds Office, Ronald F. Lucas, recorder, collected recording fees in the amount of $34,021 for April, the highest amount of fees collected in a one-month period, and potentially the foundation for a record-breaking year.

The previous calendar year high was set in 1985 at $325,598. At the present rate, Lucas' office would collect in excess of $352,000 for 1986.

County to serve crime victims

State officials have just designated 10 state's attorneys' offices as eligible to receive federal money this year to fund service programs for crime victims in their counties.

The Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority announced that state's attorneys' offices in Madison, Marion, Sangamon, Livingston, Stephenson, Vermillion and Whiteside counties have qualified for up to $22,500 each to support a full-time staff person to coordinate victim services in each county. Prosecutors' offices in three other counties, Coles, Fulton and Lee, have qualified for up to $12,000 each to fund part-time victim service coordinators.

The money is part of more than $1.8 million in victim assistance funds the U.S. has allocated to Illinois this year under the 1984 Victims of Crime Act (VOCA). The Authority, a state agency based in Chicago, is administering the victim assistance money in Illinois.

Hospitals holding line on costs

Hospital prices in Illinois increased 2.8 percent in 1985, well below the consumer price index of 4.6 percent, according to a report on 1985 hospital prices released by the Illinois Health Care Cost Containment Council (IHCCC).

The Illinois Hospital Association's data back up these findings. According to the IHA, total hospital operating revenue in 1985 increased 3.9 percent and hospital operating expenses rose 4 percent, compared to a 6.4 percent increase in hospital expenses nationwide.

"The report confirms the positive effect of allowing competition and market forces to control health care costs," IHA President Keneth C. Robbins said.

"For the third consecutive year, Illinois hospitals have outperformed the rest of the nation in keeping the cost of health care down for the benefit of health care consumers."

"The IHCCC and our data show that market forces are far more effective in stopping the health care cost spiral than all the regulatory programs that have been put in place over the last few years."

The IHCCC was created by the General Assembly in 1984 as an independent body to monitor hospital costs in Illinois and advise the legislature on future actions to control costs.

Auxiliary to present scholarships

Thirty scholarships to area students studying in allied health career fields will be awarded at a general membership meeting of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Auxiliary on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Wiseman Room at the medical center.

The number of awards is the largest given since the inception of the program 26 years ago. The total stipend for the 1986-87 school year will be $10,050. Joyce Toussaint, scholarship chairman, will present the grants to the recipients, whose parents will also be the guests of the auxiliary. Refreshments will be served prior to the presentation, with 100 guests and members expected.

to attend. The scholarships are made possible through many hours served on a voluntary basis by members of the SEMC Auxiliary. A "spokesman" said, "The members are interested in promoting education in the health fields and in retaining that expertise for the Quad-City Area."

Bike-a-thon Saturday for St. Jude

A 10-speed bicycle and a stereo radio will be offered the two people collecting the most pledge money in Saturday's "Wheels for Life" bike-a-thon in Venice.

The event will be staged from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, May 17, at the Venice High School running track.

Proceeds will benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis and participation is open to anyone wishing to raise funds for the hospital.

The bicycle, donated by the Venice Fire Department, and the stereo set being donated by a local business firm will be given the two participants raising the largest and second largest amounts in pledges. Gertrude E. Young, bike-a-thon chairman, informed the Venice City Council at Tuesday night's meeting.

Special T-shirts also will be presented to those whose pledges reach $25, and a tote bag and T-shirt also will go to bicyclists whose pledges amount to $75.

"If you are not sponsoring a rider, you may make a donation by writing a check to St. Jude's Bike-a-thon and mailing it to 1009 Calhoun St., Mrs. Young said to the aldermen.

Sponsors of a bike-a-thon rider must pledge to donate a certain amount of money for every mile ridden by the participant on Saturday, she explained.

As many sponsors as possible should be signed up by a rider with cash, pledging a specific amount from 25 cents to $1 to $10 a mile, she said.

Volunteers to help at the bike-a-thon also are needed, she said. "If you can fix a bicycle, we will need you," she added.

New vice chancellor sought

Belleville Area College's Board of Trustees met in special session Thursday afternoon and authorized Chancellor Bruce R. Wissore to initiate a search to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Vice Chancellor James J. Hines. Hines, vice chancellor for administrative services, is retiring effective June 30. He has been at BAC for 10 years. In a companion decision, the trustees also approved transferring Red Bud Campus President Larry Schmalenberger to interim vice chancellor for administrative services during the search. "Jim Hines has been an invaluable member of our college family," said Wissore. "He has established a benchmark of quality in service and dedication that will be difficult, if not impossible, to match. His retirement is a great loss to the college." Wissore said the district was fortunate to have Schmalenberger on staff. "Larry is a versatile administrator. He has a multitude of experience in administrative roles at BAC, including an earlier term as interim dean of business services." No decision has yet been made on who will fill in for Schmalenberger at the Red Bud Campus. Wissore stressed that campus will continue to get strong administrative leadership and support.

GC school musters for mail call

GRANITE CITY — Niedringhaus School's student body and PTA were recognized recently for their participation in the 1985 Christmas Military Mail Call. The students and faculty sent 481 letters which were distributed to military personnel throughout the world.

The PTA helped with the cost of the project. Mrs. Linda Koenig, resource teacher, coordinated the effort, assisted by several sixth grade students. The school made the honor roll for its participation by being the second elementary school nationally in number of letters sent.

After Christmas, many replies were received from across the United States and military bases and consulates from some of the following countries: Belgium, Bulgaria, Germany, Spain, Russia, Australia, Guam, Singapore, Peru and Iceland. All were appreciative of the local efforts. Many students received pictures of the service man or woman and the family.

Others received photos and postcards of the military base and surrounding places of interest.

Some were sent decals and bumper stickers of the particular branch of service represented by the letter writer.

A large world map was placed in the central hallway of the school and as the students received replies, the country of origin was pinpointed on the map.

Other groups interested in participating in the project may contact Military Mail Call, P.O. Box 6390, Fort Bliss, Texas 79906.

See what happens when you don't get a home-improvement loan?

What this home-owner needs is a demolition loan. This disaster could have been prevented with a home-improvement loan a few years back. (In this case, thirty years back.)

Anyway, there's no better investment than timely home repair and improvement, with a home improvement loan from First Bank or Colonial Bank.

You get a combination of benefits. Your home becomes more valuable. You live more comfortably. And your old arithmetic teacher will write you a nice letter telling you how proud she is that you remember her common-sense lessons.

Before you commit yourself to a home-improvement project, have a talk with us about the money end of it. You may be able to do more and do it right—and make a better investment of it—with our financial help.

Space-Planning Is Essential in Both Kitchen and Bathroom Brought To You By
Vince Schifferdecker

Most of us don't realize it because most of us seldom even think of it, but the difficulty in any kitchen remodeling project is really the same as it is in remodeling a bathroom. And that is space-planning, the art of placing objects that have specific dimensions into the space a way that saves steps and eliminates exasperation every day.

The difficulty is compounded by the fact that nearly all of these objects have parts that move—doors that open, drawers that pull out.

And very often the unskilled will get all the work done and then find out that a drawer in a corner won't open because it is blocked by the handle of another drawer or door in the same corner.

When the refrigerator door on one wall is opened it hits the top door of the dishwasher on the opposite wall.

In the bathroom it is a matter of continually bumping elbows or knees on things that should be a few more inches apart.

That's why it is so important to consult with a professional. Only the pro has intimate knowledge of the specific sizes of all the products to fit the space you have available.

And that is why we are here to help you. So call us when you have those kinds of problems.

Enthusiastic crowd of 325 attend banquet

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

An enthusiastic crowd of more than 325 persons paid tribute to area employers and recognized students at the 12th annual Off-Campus Education banquet at the Granite City Township Hall.

The event is held each spring to show appreciation to employers in the community and their student employees from the Granite City School District.

"THE YOUNG MAN or young woman fixing your hamburger at McDonald's Restaurant, tending your purchases at K mart or helping you at an area hospital may well be part of the Off-Campus program."

Experiences gained in the program, a cooperative education venture, have far-reaching effects, said Don Shaffner, Off-Campus Education coordinator.

"Participation is attractive to the high school student who does not wish to enter college immediately after graduation, or those needing money to stay in school."

OTHER YOUNG PEOPLE involved are learning a variety of job skills in preparation for entering a specific field, while a few students find the stability and responsibility which goes with a job also helps them finish their formal education, it was said.

"Congratulations to the students for having the foresight to participate in this program, and thanks to you employers and parents for your support," Dr. Max Redmond, Granite City superintendent of schools, said to the assembled guests.

"WE DO APPRECIATE the businesses which allow the students to work and the employers who assist our young people," the administrator said.

Redmond commended the Off-Campus coordinators and faculty involved, saying, "These staff members don't work just until 3:30."

This year, a total of 79 employers took part, providing work stations for 150 GCHS students.

James Dumont, director of vocational and career education and former GCHS principal, praised Shaffner for originating the idea of a banquet 12 years ago.

"I BELIEVE STUDENT in this program should be recognized and I hope it will continue," Dumont said. "He will be retiring this summer."

"It has been good working with the program and also this year as a supervisor. Many of our graduating seniors, especially those working through the co-op program, will be able to get jobs," Dumont said.

"Having this (work) experience gives them a chance to see what it is like out there. Some now may decide to go on to college."

Very CONGRATULATIONS to all the seniors going out into the world and good luck to you all," Dumont said.

Appreciation was expressed to Off-Campus Education coordinators Jim Reid, who will retire this year after 20½ years in the school system, and Betty Dumont.

SUSANNE ANDERSON, instructor in the Certified Nurse Assistant Extended Campus program, offered in cooperation with the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College and Oliver Anderson Hospital was introduced.

A knowledgeable also were William Bougby, of South-

OFF-CAMPUS STUDENTS and their supervisors at the Granite City School District's 12th annual appreciation banquet. Seventy-nine employers and 150 junior and senior students are involved in the 1985-86 program. From the left foreground, clockwise, are Leigh Ann Fanning, Diane Western Cable TV, supervisor for the Extended Campus Radio and TV production class, and Betty Crouch, Linda Grotz, Sheila Morgan, Patsy Tucker and Earl and Marcella Tucker, all of the Granite City School of Beauty Culture.

Representatives from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Earl's

Coiffures and Colonial Haven Nursing Home, all part of the Extended Campus program, and individual employers were introduced.

KARAN ONSTOTT, chairman of the Off-Campus Citizens' Advisory Committee, briefly described the group's function. Committee members include Treva Bridges, Kaltmayer, Margaret Kaltmayer, Ruth Nicholas, supervisor at the Granite City office of the 3rd Judicial Circuit Court, Melissa Haxton, Rose Marie Chadwick, supervisor, Circuit Court office, and Helen Crause, supervisor at the William Schooley law firm.

Arrests in all 5 murders in GC this year

GRANITE CITY—With the arrests May 8 of Jack G. Bruce and David K. Patterson, all five murder cases in Granite City this year have resulted in arrests.

"We have a pretty good record as far as clearances," said Police Chief Bill Harris.

Both Bruce, charged in the April 30 murders of Carl and Susan Hoffman, and Patterson, charged in the May 1 stabbing death of Charles Parker, are in the Madison County jail in Edwardsville.

The Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis had a big effect on solving the Hoffman murders, Harris said.

"We have a limited (size) detective bureau," he said. "The Major Case Squad gave us an immense amount of manpower."

AUTO HITS PARKED CAR

Wolfe was in a parked car on W. 20th Street near Illinois Avenue when the car the Yates were in, driven by Keith Gillespie of 2125 Illinois, collided with it.

The chief said the 2,000 man-hours provided by the Major Case Squad could not have been duplicated by his department. He attributed the arrest of Bruce directly to the squad's efforts.

"[M.] Bob Hertz was the squad leader," Harris said. "They're experienced investigators. In this particular group, the personalities just seemed to melt into one large group."

Hertz, with the Madison County Sheriff's Department, has known Harris for several years.

"I feel we worked well together because we are personal friends," Harris said.

The Granite City Police Department was accepted as a member of the Major Case Squad in April.

Abducted

The woman told police she was driving north on Illinois 3 at 1:10 a.m. Tuesday and saw a man standing in the median at South Fourth.

As she was driving past him, the man opened the car door, pushing her over to the passenger seat, she said. The vehicle was still moving at the time.

SHE DESCRIBED her assailant as being black, in his mid-20s and of muscular build. He was wearing a sleeveless sweatshirt and jeans.

The man started driving north on South Fourth, telling her to give him all the money she had. She gave him a few dollars from her shirt pocket, she said.

Apparently the man was not satisfied with the amount and said he wanted all her money. She pleaded with him to let her get out of the car, but he said he would hurt her if she didn't stop begging, authorities were told.

HER ABDUCTOR drove north along Klein Street to Bissell Street and then turned east to Madison Avenue and continued along Second Street in Madison to Illinois 203.

Near Bend Road, south of Madison, he drove around for a while and then turned east on Bend, where he made sexual threats, she said.

When she tried to open the car door, he grabbed and held her by the belt. He began fighting with her and let go of the steering wheel when she opened the belt at the front and was able to get out of the car.

SHE KICKED at the man and ran back along Bend Road to the traffic lights. After she saw him get back into the auto, turn the vehicle around and start driving toward her, the woman ran into a field.

She went to a nearby farm house to get help, but left before arousing anyone and walked back to the highway, she said.

After receiving the report, a Madison County deputy checked the area and found a woman's belt, reports said. Her purse, which was in the auto, was not recovered.

UNHARMED PHYSICALLY, except for some bruises, the victim was released to the care of her husband.

Meanwhile, Venice officers interviewed Campbell at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was taken by the deputy sheriff.

In addition to being tied with cord to the tree for three hours, he also was punched in the face, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

Campbell was seated in a parked car in the 1000 block of Madison Avenue, Madison, when a man approached him and offered him $5 if he would take him to Venice. He agreed, Campbell said.

UPON ARRIVING at Illinois 3, the passenger told him to turn north and stop at the Merchants' Bridge highway trestle, Campbell said.

The man got out of the car, but then jumped into the back seat, grabbed Campbell by the hair and put a knife to his throat, he said.

Campbell was forced to drive to Lewis and Clark State Park, where the assailant tied him with a cord to a tree after robbing him of $64.

THE ABDUCTOR, a black man, then fled from the area on foot, leaving the auto driven by Campbell at the scene.

Described as in his late 30s or early 40s, the man was six feet tall with a straggly mustache and beard, graying at the edges. He was wearing jeans and a red, white and green shirt.

Wins 'Best of Show' award

Michael Carney of Granite City, an art student at Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus, won the best of show award during the third annual Granite City Campus Art Show.

More than 40 students entered an estimated 75 projects, ranging from landscapes to charcoal drawings. Bob Moskowitz, a GCC art instructor, said this year's show was the best yet.

"Because there are more students taking second-year courses, the students are getting better technically," he said. "The competition is stiffer because more people are entering." Central Bank of Granite City donated cash awards.

Those winning other awards were: Eupile Tarris, best painting; Randall Feltmeyer, best drawing; Julia DeRuntz, technical merit; and Eugene Halyama, technical merit.

Receiving certificates of merit were Ethel Gettleman, Randall Feltmeyer, Michael Carney, Eupile Tarris, Cleva Whitaker, Mary Duko, Steven Zgonina, Rebecca Muzzarelli, Ralph Torrez, Georgea Mateosian, Joseph Busch, John Larch, Lisa Willard and Cynthia Barnett.

All are from Granite City.

Young author will attend state conference in Normal

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The titles read like a glossary of adventure stories, but they are as home-grown as the children who wrote them.

This weekend, stories written by Granite City elementary school children will be part of the 12th statewide Young Authors Conference May 17. The conference will be held at Illinois State University in Normal.

Granite City will send 18 representatives to the conference. Students were chosen based on their manuscripts.

With titles like "The Case of the Talking Toaster," "Danger in the Toy Store," "The Day I Became Invisible" and "Speed Town U.S.A.," District 9 students have made compelling entries.

The purpose of the event is to recognize student writing skills and support efforts of classroom teachers to encourage writing skills.

Public and private schools from across the state were chosen to attend the one-day conference. The affair is sponsored by the Illinois State Board of Education and the Illinois Reading Council.

Well-known children's authors like James Aylesworth ("Tonight's the Night"), Shellie Robbins ("Which Side Up?") and Dorothy Haas ("The Bears Upstairs") will take part in the conference.

Sessions will be held in various buildings throughout the campus. Grades kindergarten through second grade, third and fourth, fifth and sixth, and seventh and eighth grade sessions are planned.

Parents meetings are also planned. Granite City authors attending the conference include: Dawn Freeman, grade 5, "Hello, Good-bye," Jennifer Guzy, grade 6, "To Save The Orphanage," Cassandra

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

If two individuals own property in joint tenancy, upon the death of the first joint tenant, his interest will pass to the survivor. Sometimes one joint tenant will attempt to pledge his interest in the property as collateral for a loan. The question then arises as to what effect this has on the interest of the other joint tenant.

A 1984 case involved a parcel of real estate owned in joint tenancy by two individuals. One of the joint tenants mortgaged his interest without the knowledge of the other. When the mortgagor died, the question arose as to whether the mortgage would pass to the surviving joint tenant or to the person holding the mortgage lien. The Court held that unless the mortgage was signed by all the joint tenants, the signature of only one joint tenant would do no more than create a lien on the interest of the mortgagor party. Therefore, when the mortgagor died, the surviving joint tenant took the entire interest in the property.

This case involving joint tenancy real estate is to be distinguished from a more recent case involving a joint bank account. In this situation, a widow had established a savings account with her husband prior to his death.

Without the knowledge of the woman, her husband had taken out several loans with a bank. He pledged the savings account as collateral for these loans, and he died a few years later leaving the loans in default. After his death, the bank took the proceeds of the savings account in order to satisfy the $9,200 which was owing on the loans.

The widow argued that her husband had pledged as collateral his own interest in the account. She felt that the bank's right to the account as collateral was extinguished when her husband died. The Court noted that a joint bank account is not the same as a joint tenancy in real property, and is subject to the provisions of the contract between the bank and its depositors.

The agreement between the bank and the couple allowed one joint depositor to unilaterally pledge the interests of all the joint depositors. Thus, when the husband pledged the savings account as collateral, he pledged both his interest and his wife's interest in the account. The bank therefore was within its rights in enforcing the security agreement against the funds in the account.

SAVE AMERICAN INDUSTRY & JOBS DAY

JUNE 21, 1986

The time has come for Americans to act in their own interest.

That's why in Washington, D.C. and in towns and cities across America, thousands of people are going to rally on June 21 in a great display of unity to demand fair trade laws and other policies which will allow us to revitalize our basic industries.

We're tired of seeing American plants close and American workers lose their jobs while such essential facilities as roads, bridges, water systems and sewers are just plain wearing out or not being built.

Entire industries in this country are in trouble, largely for reasons beyond their control. This dismantling of America's basic industries has resulted in the loss of more than 11.5 million jobs since 1979.

Not just steel, although steel is a prime example. Despite the high productivity and sacrifices of steelworkers, and vast sums spent on modernization, steel plants are closing, workers are losing their jobs, and companies are reporting millions of dollars in losses.

Other troubled industries range from textiles through autos to electronics. Americans are trying to compete with foreign imports made by poorly paid workers in government-owned or highly subsidized plants.

Steelworkers and steel companies have implored Congress, regulators and assorted administrators to take the gloves off in dealing with countries that have adopted policies which lead to the alarming erosion of our basic industries. Some progress has been made, but so far it's been too little and soon it will be too late.

During the next few months, the people in steel will be united with other people in the cities and towns where they live. Together we can bring about reasonable changes in trade policies. We'll be joined by other unions and industries.

Before June 21 you will be hearing much more about "Save American Industry and Jobs Day."

We hope you will participate in this total effort to redirect the ways in which some things are done in this country.

The American promise is for all of us.

This message is sponsored by Armco Inc., Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Inland Steel Company, LTV Steel Company, National Steel Corporation, and United Steelworkers of America.

Wiser, Selph at state meet

The top track and field athletes will gather this weekend for the 14th annual IHSAA girls state final.

Preliminaries will be held Friday and the finals in the 17 events will begin at 11 a.m. on Saturday at O'Brien Stadium on the campus of Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

Senior Lora Wiser (3,200 run) and junior Terri Selph (discus) of Granite City will be among the 1,350 athletes competing in the meet.

Both earned berths after qualifying at last Friday's sectional meet.

Wiser will be making her second trip to state. She took second in the 3,200 run with a time of 11:32. Selph will be making her first trip to Charleston. She placed fourth in the discus with a loss of 116.2.

East St. Louis Lincoln, winners of the last four state crowns, is the favorite to repeat. The Tigerettes have loads of depth.

In the 17 events, Lincoln has at least one of the top 10 qualifying performances in all but the 3,200-meter run. At the sectional, Lincoln qualified 21 individuals. East St. Louis Senior qualified 11 for the state meet.

Lincoln is gunning for its eighth state title overall and quite possibly could set an all-time record for most points scored. The Tigerettes scored 107 points a year ago.

In Class A, Madison will send seven runners to state. The Trojanettes qualified its 400 and 800-meter relay teams, its 800 meter medley and Tammy Deal in the open 400.

Other Madison runners scheduled to participate are Lisa Davenport, Tammie Enlow, Sheila Marshall, LeGloria Marshall, Melissa Davenport and Vivian Turner.

Coming into the state meet, Deal, a junior, has posted the second fastest time in the 400 (59.8). Freshman Marcy Hoffman of Chicago Luther South turned in a time of 59.2.

Madison's 400-meter relay team clocked a 50.5 mark, the second fastest time of the sectional qualifiers. Both the 800 and 1,600-meter relay times are among the top 10.

The Class A preliminaries will be held first on Friday, with field events starting at 8:30 a.m. The first running event will begin at 9 a.m. The Class AA prelims, beginning with the field events, will start at 12:30 p.m. The running events will start at approximately 1 p.m.

There will be two new events this year. The 300-meter low hurdles will be added to the 200 hurdles, and the 3,200-meter relay has been added.

Tickets for each session of the two-day meet are $3 each.

GC netters host sectionals

First round matches will begin at 2:30 p.m. on Friday. Doubles matches will be held at the high school courts while singles will be played at Wilson Park.

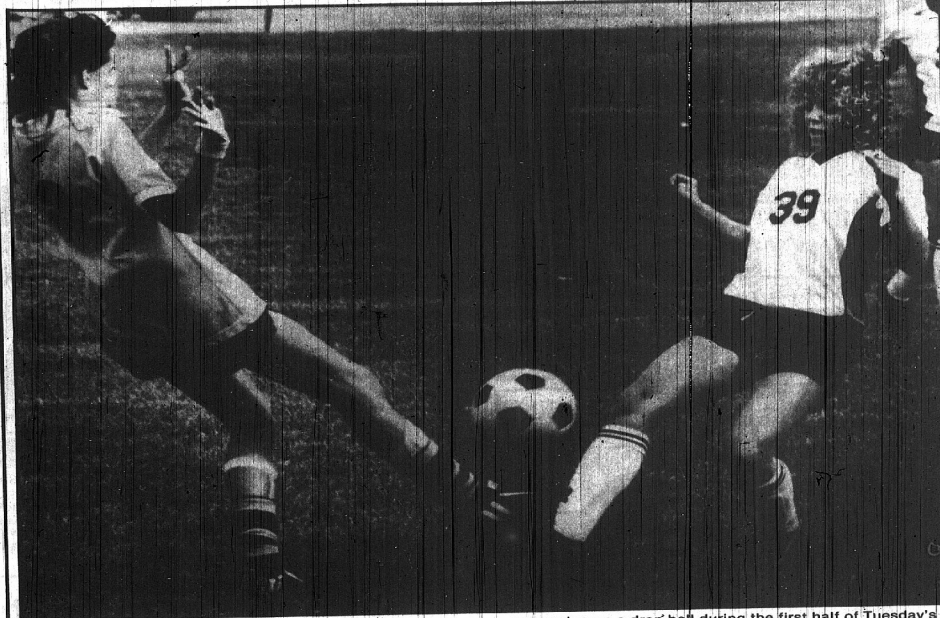

Semifinal matches will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday. Both singles and doubles will be played at the Wilson Park courts.

Two Granite City players will be involved in first round singles matches. Jim Johannpeter will meet Jason Devine of Cicero Memorial. Matt Krekovich will play Chad Randol of Alton.

GRANITE CITY — At first thought, the wind shouldn't be much of a factor in a soccer game.

It's not like football, where quarterbacks can have their passes practically stopped in the face of a good gust. Or baseball, where certain home runs are tied up in the wind and caught at the fence.

But Tuesday afternoon, a strong northerly wind might have helped the Warrior girls soccer team squeak past the Hawks' Hazelwood Central Hawks 2-1.

With the game scoreless at the 9:00 mark, Granite City's Tammy Wroten was lining up a series kick to the right of Hawks' goalie Darleen Lovasco.

"We like to play our corner kicks so they land about eight feet in front of the goal," said Granite City coach Mike Vellari, who saw his team go to 9-2-2 on the year. "That way, we can get some people mixing it up in there and maybe get a deflection. Anything can happen in close like that."

But Wroten did her coach better. The kick appeared to be heading for the 6-8 foot area, but the wind grabbed it and carried the ball over Lovasco's head into the far corner of the net for the first goal of the game.

"We never play the corner to have them go directly in," Vellari said. "But the wind might have helped that one a little."

Still, the Warriors had to come up with another tally after the Hawks' Amy Marie Urbeck scored off a direct free kick just four minutes later. It was similar to the play Collinsville had used to score two goals against the Warriors on Monday's 3-3 tie. Urbeck loomed her shot over a wall of Granite City defenders and it shot in just.

Devils win regional opener from Trojans

By Gary King

Correspondent

VENICE — Orlando Love had something to prove to the Madison Trojans here Tuesday, and he made his point loud and clear.

Just seven days prior to Madison-Venice III, the Trojans had handed Love and the Red Devils a 6-2 loss to even the series at 1-1 for the season — Venice had won the first encounter by the same score. So Love entered Tuesday's contest looking for revenge, and he got it, as the Red Devils downed Madison 12-2 to advance to the second round of the Freeburg Class A Regional.

The loss ended Madison's season at 3-16, while Venice's mark was raised to 5-10 with the win.

Love was the telling factor in the contest, as he not only baffled the Trojan batsmen with his pitching — allowing Madison only two hits while striking out 10 — but also drove in four runs with a double and a triple to aid his own cause.

"Yeah, Orlando was really tough today," said Venice coach Clinton Harris after the contest. "The last time we played them (Madison), they had the pitching and we made the errors. But today, it was just the opposite. They gave us a lot of walks."

The Red Devils, indeed, received more than their fair share of free passes — 14 in all — most of which were issued by Trojan starter Andre Mosby. Ironically, Mosby had walked only four batters in Madison's 6-2 win one week earlier.

According to Madison coach Marcus Spraggins, Mosby's control problems in Tuesday's contest stemmed from pain in his throwing arm.

"I think his (Mosby's) arm was hurting him," Spraggins said. "At least that's what he said. I was kind of disappointed because I really thought that he had a jinx on Venice's left-handed hitters. But he just didn't have any control out there today."

The Red Devils began walking, literally, away with the contest early, as Mosby walked eight of the ten batters he faced in the first inning to give Venice a 4-0 lead. On the other hand, Love got a quick jump out of the chute, fanning five of the first seven batters he faced.

Madison's first semblance of a threat came in the third inning when Vincent Valentine led off with a single — the Trojans' first hit of the ballgame — and reliever Patrick Glasper reached base on an error by Venice shortstop Dale Turner. However, Love worked his way out of the jam by striking out Darnell Marshall and Anthony Valentine.

Catcher John Brockwick picked up the Trojans' final hit of the game in the fourth with a leadoff triple, and he eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Steven Boyd, cutting the Venice lead to 4-1.

But the Red Devils quickly repaid their cushion in the bottom of the inning, as an RBI single by Wilfred Wigfall and an error by Trojan first baseman Dennis Vaulter allowed two more runs to score.

Madison saw the game slip out of its reach in the fifth when RBI hits by Love and Roy Hogan put Venice ahead 8-1. Turner later crossed the plate on a wild pitch from Glasper after reaching base on a walk.

Love served Venice's final blow of the game, as his triple off Madison's third pitcher of the contest, Chandler Terrell, allowed Carl Williams and Terry and Gary Wiley to race across the plate. The game was then called due to the ten-run rule.

After the contest, both coaches spoke optimistically of their respective clubs, but for entirely different reasons.

"We played well today," Harris said. "I thought that this was one of our better games of the year. I just hope that this continues for the rest of the playoffs."

On the other side of the field, Spraggins could only hope for sunnier days next season.

"I'm expecting some big things out of these kids next year," he said. "I'll have 10 of these guys back, and if we can get some pitching I think that we'll be okay. This season has just been a learning experience for us."

Cougars in tourney

EDWARDSVILLE — For the fourth time in five years, the baseball Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been extended a bid to the NCAA Division II regional tournament.

The Cougars, who last year won the Midwest Regional and advanced to the Division II World Series, will be one of four teams in the South-Central Regional when action gets under way today at 2 p.m. in Troy, Ala.

Regarded as the strongest of the six regionals, the tournament will feature the Cougars, ranked 16th nationally, against Troy State, ranked as the top team in Division II. That game will be played at 2 p.m. today. Sam Houston St. (No. 4) will play Jacksonville (Ala.) St. (No. 6) in the other first round game at 7 p.m.

The Cougars will enter their 12th postseason tournament after a record-breaking regular season, scheduled to get under way May 21. Heading into the final weekend of the season, SIUE had posted a 39-19 record, the most wins ever by a Cougar baseball team. Troy State is currently sporting a 39-9 record, while Sam Houston St. has a 40-10 mark and Jacksonville is 45-10.

This year's Division II tournament marks the first-ever meeting between SIUE and Troy State. The Cougars have, however, met both Jacksonville and Sam Houston in postseason play. Last year, the Cougars defeated Sam Houston twice during the Midwest Regional. During the 1983 World Series in Riverside, Cal., Jacksonville eliminated the Cougars and went on to finish second in the tournament.

Friday's schedule includes games at noon, 3:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. The championship game will be set for Saturday at 1 p.m., with a p.m. game (if needed) to determine the South-Central representative to the World Series, which is scheduled to get under way May 25 in Montgomery, Ala.

Trojans grab second at DuQuoin Classic

DU QUOIN — The Madison track team took another step forward in its effort to be one of the state's top teams.

Madison marched to a second place finish at the annual DuQuoin Class A Classic Saturday. The meet was a tune-up for this weekend's sectionals scheduled at Red Bud. Several of the teams at DuQuoin will be at the sectional meet.

"The kids had to come from behind," said Madison coach Charles Steptoe. "The needed to get second in the mile really and they did."

Host DuQuoin won the event with 61 points. Madison edged Charles Steptoe, 49-49. Carverville scored 45 and West Frankfort 31½ points. In all, 21 teams took part at the meet.

Madison got two individual first places. Jesse Leonard won the long jump (20-8) and Reggie Young took the triple jump (43-2).

DeLarren Young was second in the 400 (52.83) and DeWayne Hicks was second in the 200 (23.41). The 1,600-meter relay of Otis Ware, Willie Green, D. Young and Joseph Starnes also was second (3:36.4).

Reggie Young also took third in the long jump (19-10). Madison's 400 relay team was third; the quartet included Leonard, Hicks and Terrence Hicks and Reggie Young. The Trojans' 400 relay also grabbed this member of that team are Leonard, Hicks and Reggie Young.

Starnes was fourth in the 200 (2:05.97). Green was fifth in the high hurdles. His time was 1:13 seconds.

side of the Warrior net and hit Tonya Tesson circling in front.

Her header easily beat DeRuntz to the far corner, but it glanced off the goal post and DeRuntz smothered the rebound.

Colleen Ryan had a strong left-footer at the 51:00 mark, but Lovasco was up to the task. The Hawks had the territorial edge for much of the second half, but failed to come up with any more excellent scoring chances.

It was the Warriors who were pressing for an insurance goal at the end. Lovasco made a diving stop of a drive from Linda Kuberski at the 70:00 mark, then Ryan fed Kuberski a perfect pass in the final moments, but her hard low shot missed the post by a foot.

"The wind can be a factor, but we were able to keep the ball low and move it around towards the end," Velloff said. "We forced some things and that last play was very well done. It's too bad the shot missed."

The Warriors controlled the midfield down the stretch, thanks to the work of Kuberski and Stacie Forman.

"Forman has been excellent back there," Velloff said. "She's a tall player and she has the ability to dominate. Some of the smaller players have a tendency to back off when she goes for the ball. Marla (Toeniskotter) has been her backup at that position, and she has done well also."

The Warriors wrap up the season with a pair of games in Evansville, Ind., this Saturday. They will play Reitz Memorial, a team which once won 81 of 82 games, and Harrison.

"Some of the younger players will go along," Velloff said. "We'll be playing at 10 a.m. and then at 2:30 p.m., so we'll need a lot of players to keep from getting tired."

Wallace is big gun at Tri-City

By Joe Senter
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Mike Wallace was the big gun in the UMP Late Model Stock Cars last Saturday at the Tri-City Speedway.

Wallace, driving a 1986 Firebird, had things going his way for a change after experiencing mechanical problems for the past several weeks.

He made it a clean sweep. Wallace won the 25-lap feature and his first heat race. In the feature, Kevin Claycome was second and 1985 NASCAR Grand National Rookie of the Year Ken Schrader was third.

Routing out the top 10 finishers were Ron Fisher, Allen Thomas, Joe Ross, Rodney Dial, Pat Walsh, "Snook" Dehm and Perry Tripp. Bill Shaw won the first heat race, but was forced to drop out of the feature with engine problems. Tripp was second and Dial was third.

Wallace took the second heat followed by Thomas and Walsh.

The Sportsman's Feature was won by Steve Quatterhouse. Bob Stanton, Mark Kruse, John Wolfmeier, C.C. Corbin and Mike Seits were the top six finishers.

Wolfmeier took the heat race. He was followed by Seits and Kruse.

The Street Stock Feature was won by Darrel Hoffman. John

Stanton was second and Mel Perkins of Granite City was third. Rick Carter was fourth.

Hoffman won his heat race to complete the evening sweep. Perkins took the other heat.

On Wednesday, June 4, Tri-City Speedway will hold an open competition "winged" sprint car program. Some of the top drivers in the Midwest have already registered for the event.

SIU announces basketball camp in summer

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville head basketball coach Larry Graham has announced the dates for one of the most extensive summer basketball camps in the region. According to Graham, the camps will be aimed at two different targets, individual fundamentals and team concepts at the high school and junior high school level. The first camp, which will stress fundamentals, is set for June 29-July 3 with openings for resident or day campers still available. The second session, scheduled for July 6-11, will feature the high school varsity team concept. Graham will conduct a third session July 20-25 for high school varsity, junior varsity and junior high school team play. All three sessions are open to resident and day campers between the ages of nine and 18 years old who have not started their senior year of high school. Cost for the week-long session is set for $160 per resident camper and $100 per day camper. Resident campers will stay in SIUE's Tower Lake Apartments and receive three meals per day. For reservations to any session, or for additional information, contact Larry Graham or Pete Norman, assistant basketball coach, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026, or call 692-2871.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center: IN A NEIGHBORHOOD WITH A FOUNDATION & A FUTURE

And here's what your neighbors are saying about St. Elizabeth's:

GOING STRONG

"The 'Going Strong' wellness program is something very important to businesses and individuals in this day and age. It offers awareness of one's own lifestyle and health. We at Heimkamp think the program will help improve medical costs will decrease. We chose the St. Elizabeth program because it is close and convenient and the attitude and concerns of the associates at St. Elizabeth make them very good to deal with."

Jim Farrell
President, Heimkamp Construction Co.
Wood River, Illinois

SURGETTE

"My 5-year-old son recently needed to have some tubes placed in his ears. He was scared and very leery. But the nurses in Surgette at SEMC were real understanding and very helpful. They kept him calm and relaxed before and during the procedure. They were kind and considerate to my son and myself. They even allowed my youngest son to come with me so I wouldn't have to leave him alone. As long as I have a choice, I will take my family to St. Elizabeth's before going anywhere else. I've bragged highly on St. Elizabeth's."

Kathleen Oliver and son, Shane
Cottleville, Illinois

SURGETTE

"I was in for cataract surgery recently, and I must say I had excellent care in every way. Everyone from x-ray to lab treated me with courtesy, respect and a great deal of professionalism. All of the surgical staff and operating room staff were warm and friendly. I had the same surgery performed at another area hospital several years ago, but in my book, I'd rate St. Elizabeth's the best."

Irene Griesman
East Alton, Illinois

CARDIAC REHAB

"After my fine treatment in the ICCU for a heart attack, and a lot of questions about my condition. That's when Cardiac Rehabilitation therapy became so important to me. The cardiac specialists three times a week and despite my nervous moods, they are always very understanding and helpful. The confidence they help us build in ourselves is the key to our recovery. Under their watchful eyes, you don't have to wonder what you can or cannot do. You can know. There is also the benefit of being with others that have the same or worse problems and seeing that they are doing well and maybe I can do the same. In my opinion, any cardiac patient who doesn't try this rehab therapy is missing one of the most important aspects of cardiac treatment."

Jerry Ranges
Granite City, Illinois

INDUSTRIAL MEDICINE

"Recently several of our employees were involved in a chemical leak. We sent six of them to St. Elizabeth's in Granite City, and the others to two other area hospitals. The treatment our people received at St. Elizabeth's and the follow-up treatment through the Industrial Medicine Department was outstanding. Our employees came back feeling better than they had been treated as people, not just a number. One of our employees who had been treated asked if we could make SEMC our medical supplier. I was happy to tell him we already have."

Jim Miller
Superintendent of Safety and Claims
Rock and Southern Railroad
Mugel, Illinois

It's National Hospital Week (May 11-17) and we at St. Elizabeth Medical Center want you to know that we're glad to be your neighbor. It's a relationship that has changed considerably through the 82 years that St. Elizabeth's has been serving the people of Granite City. Since then, SEMC's "neighborhood" has outgrown the city limits to include all of Madison County.

We're now known in Edwardsville, through our Cottonwood and Edgewood facilities, in Fairview Heights, through a jointly operated Immediate Care Center, and by countless families in Collinsville, Bethalto, Alton and other surrounding municipalities who come to us for their health care needs.

People helping people—that's what neighborhoods are made of. It's what the Sisters of Divine Providence, a Catholic community of women religious, have been doing since they first came to Granite City 65 years ago. The St. Elizabeth Medical Center of today is built on their foundation of courage and faith. It was their courage that enabled them to take over the operation of a hospital whose tenuous beginnings had known the direction of three different groups during its first ten years. It was these women's faith in Providence that has seen the hospital grow despite social changes and economic hardships during the past six and a half decades.

That same courage and faith is what is called for today as the Sisters choose to stay in the Quad-Cities and continue to develop a health care center system that integrates the needs of the total person—physically, mentally and spiritually.

Our 469-bed medical center offers a full range of services and employs the latest technological advancements to meet the medical needs you and your family might have—from pre-natal and maternity services to adolescent psychological services, to home health, hospice and medical-surgical services.

Because we're interested in your well-being not only today, but tomorrow, we try to anticipate your needs, and stay on top of current health care trends.

For one, people are living longer these days. That's a fact all of us need to plan for. And we are at St. Elizabeth's, with our well-respected Home Health, Mobile Meals and Lifeline programs.

While the general population is living longer, there are also thousands of your neighbors who experience the effects of chronic, disabling diseases, like heart attacks and strokes. That's why we concentrate so many of our resources on restoring you to your best health, through rehabilitative programs like our award-winning cardiac rehabilitation, stroke rehabilitation and physical therapy.

Among the latest technological advancements—laser eye surgery—is also available in your neighborhood for the quick and painless treatment of glaucoma, the after effects of cataract removal, cataracts and retinal damage.

Meanwhile, we are, as a nation and a neighborhood, becoming more health conscious. We're beginning to realize that a program of prevention is worth years of cures. So we at St. Elizabeth's have developed "Going Strong," our wellness program aimed at "adding life to your lifestyle" by identifying health risks among your current health practices and recommending changes to decrease those risks. We then offer a full menu of educational programs and individual counseling to help you be your best, healthiest self.

We're also adding screening programs, like the new mammography procedure, that can help detect breast cancer up to three years sooner than any other procedure.

Another of our society's lifestyle threats is the disease, alcoholism, which affects one of every ten people you know. The increasing need for treatment and rehabilitation is our reason for expanding our 20-bed chemical dependency unit once located within the hospital, to a new 40-bed, free-standing unit in Edwardsville, under the direction of the Edgewood program.

Our concerns are current and our treatment and technology is up to date, but we haven't forgotten our past: Granite City was built on industry. The St. Elizabeth Medical Center Industrial Medicine Department meets the special needs of industry like few health care centers can or need to.

Whether you run a business or a family, you are concerned about the rising costs of health care today. No one is more so than we are at St. Elizabeth's. That's why we have entered into a group health plan with HealthLink—a plan that will provide you and your family optimum health care at minimal costs.

We've also developed preferred provider agreements with local groups like the Granite City Community School District 9, offering its employees the most cost-effective health care coverage possible.

Built on a firm foundation and looking toward an exciting future, we remain a medical center with a mission: to provide for the needs of our neighbors today—and tomorrow. Hospitals aren't just for the sick—hospitals are for the healthy. Hospitals make healthy neighbors.

Audubon Society to meet Tuesday

The Southwestern Illinois Audubon Society will meet Tuesday, May 20, at the First Federal Savings and Loan, 300 St. Louis St., Edwardsville, at 7:30 p.m.

Bowie Hannah will be the guest speaker and will show slides on nesting of 90 species of birds. Hannah is from Texico, Ill., near Mount Vernon, and was reared in DePue, a town on the Illinois River. As she grew up, her father let her help put young blue-jays back in the nest. ## meet Tuesday

After her sons entered college she had time to start studying birds and keeping nest records for the Cornell University program. She started photographing and found it easier to get good bird pictures by finding a nest and setting up equipment to catch the adult birds feeding their young.

The guest speaker has photographed in India, Malaysia, Columbia, Brazil, Panama, Costa Rica, Mexico and many places in the United States.

The public is invited to attend and there is no admission, Ruth Jensen, president, said.

And according to the experts, things are likely to get even worse before they get any better.

But with a home improvement loan, you can keep the cost of energy from getting out of hand.

By doing all the things that'll help you keep more of the hot air you pay for in the winter. And more of the cold air you pay for in the summer.

Things like storm windows, extra insulation, overhaul or replacement of your furnace or air conditioning system, and a lot of other things that'll help you save money while you're saving energy.

So come in and talk with one of our loan officers today.

Because helping you get the things you need around the house is a part of our bank's commitment to excellence in everything we do.

Methodists to hear Chile missionary

Stanley Eugene Moore, a United Methodist lay missionary who has been involved in rural development work with peasant farmers in southern Chile, will speak in Granite City Methodist churches Monday, May 19.

He will speak at a coffee session at 10 a.m. May 19, at Niedringhaus; at 6 p.m., he will attend a potluck dinner at Good Shepherd; and at 7 p.m. he will speak at the latter church, located at 3025 National Ave.

During his first 14 years in Chile, Moore was associated with the El Vergel Agricultural School in Angol, where he taught and served as principal. A native of California, he has been an agricultural missionary since 1958. The tasks carried out by the Rural Work Board among Mapuche Indians include the maintenance of two rural primary schools, a home away from home for Mapuche children who must go to an urban area to continue primary or secondary studies; a rural pastorate program; and an extensive rural development project that helps 700 Mapuche families in the poorest rural area of Chile.

Moore is married to Beryl Ruth Feather, who also serves as a lay missionary. They have four children.

The public is invited to attend any of the sessions on Monday.

Located in the old Collinsville High School building, Son-Life offers permanent classrooms, fully equipped laboratories, complete gymnasium facilities and a large playground, a spokesman said.

Five Star Club hears musical

The Five Star Club of Central Bank was entertained with a variety program and "mystery guest" at a meeting held at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. Dave Hopkins, the musical trust officer, was introduced to the group. He has been a member of the bank staff about one year and is a native of Granite City. He presently resides in Bethalto with his wife, Sharon, and daughter, Allison.

He graduated from SIU in 1974 and spent three years in the Army and four years as city clerk of Alton. Other experience included: director of Chamber of Commerce, Wood River; office manager and vice president of Synergistic Financial Planning Inc. Hopkins explained varied services provided by the trust department and offered free consultation.

The mystery guest was Nancy Barnes. She played the guitar and sang several songs. The group was then joined by the group in singing "You are My Sunshine," "On Top of Old Smokey" and "Ten Little Indians." Barnes also plays the piano, writes music and is employed as a teller at Central Bank.

A bit of nostalgia was in evidence as Van Stuart modeled a two-piece dress and beaded cape made in 1885 by Ida Belle Daniels McNary. The bottom of the skirt was lined and weighed so that it would not blow above the ankles in a breeze. Mrs. McNary's daughter, Beatie McNary Coolidge, loaned the dress for the viewing.

Members celebrating May birthdays were Dorothy Vance, Elsie Dunkman and Hazel Sherrills. Emily Alford, club coordinator, presented each with a Five Star Club pin.

"Statue of Liberty" key chains were the prizes won by Stanley Barry, Lena Wood, Frances Wargin and Bernadine Weidner.

Alford served refreshments to the 90 members present.

There will be prizes throughout the event and the cost is $2.25 for admission and skate rental or $1.25 for admission only.

Cookbooks, organized and sponsored by the Workers for Christ of the church, are available for a donation of $4.50. The books include recipes both old and new that were compiled from members of the church.

Another project will be a car wash to be held directly behind

Ponderosa Restaurant by the church youth group on Saturday, May 31, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tickets for $2.50 for the outside of the car only and may be purchased in advance or at the car wash. Proceeds will be used for Youth Camp '86.

Youth Night, a monthly service at the church, is organized and directed by youth for youth. These services prepare young people for future ministry by giving them the responsibility of planning the monthly midweek services and working with the pastor each month. For May Youth Night, the Rev. Mike Adams, pastor of Agape Christian Fellowship in Godfrey, was welcomed to the church by the guest speaker for the evening, Tim Lemmons, and a drama team which performed two skits. Terry McKenzie, Agape's praise and worship leader, ministered in song and Eileen Hutchison of the church gave a sermonette about love and obedience to God.

The next youth night is scheduled for Thursday, June 5, when the speaker will be Terry Loyd from the Word of Life youth department.

Ill. firefighters back governor

The Associated Fire Fighters of Illinois (AFFI), headed by Glenn Walters of Alton, last week endorsed Republican Gov. James Thompson for re-election in November.

It is the first time the 9,000-member union has endorsed a candidate for statewide office.

Thompson last year signed into law collective bargaining legislation the union had been seeking for more than 10 years.

Walters, an Alton firefighter as well as state president of the union for several years, said Thompson "has proven to be an effective leader for the state of Illinois."

"His efforts in education reform and economic development have benefited all citizens of Illinois and the members of the AFFI have recognized that fact."

The endorsement, which Walters said was unanimously made at the union's assembly delegates in Chicago, was the second Thompson has received so far from a labor union.

The state executive board of the 100,000-member International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers endorsed Thompson's bid for a fourth term in March.

State tops U.S. in new industries

Statistics compiled by Conway Data Inc. of Atlanta show Illinois led the nation in attracting new manufacturing plants in 1985.

Data published in Conway's Industrial Development Site Selection Handbook show Illinois ranks first in the category of new facilities with 104, and is second in California in the number of expansions with 85. California is second in new facility locations with 83.

These statistics reflect the early and resounding success of our economic development programs. They are the direct results of extraordinary efforts by all those in Illinois who are responsible for bringing major industry to the state and persuading those already here to expand," Gov. James Thompson said.

Conway Data Inc., now in its 30th year of operation, is considered by major corporations and economic developers to be one of the most reliable and objective industrial and economic information sources in the world, the governor said.

The bulk of Conway's information comes from surveys sent out every two months to hundreds of industrial development organizations in this nation and abroad.

Survey returns are supplemented with newspaper and magazine clippings and press releases sent to Conway by corporations, developers and state and local development groups.

For all new facilities and expansions, Conway compiles data on the company's name, location, product, investments required, new or expanding facilities, size of the facility in square feet, and the number of new employees added as a result of the new facility or expansion.

With the selection of Bloomington-Normals the location for the new Amound-Star Motors assembly plant, Illinois typifies the resurgence of the East North Central region in 1985, according to Conway.

Diamond-Star will employ 2,900 workers with an investment of more than $600 million.

"All indications point toward increased industrial investments in the state," Thompson said. "We are optimistic that Illinois and surrounding states will form a strong foundation for a newly revitalized Midwest."

In addition to Diamond-Star locating in Illinois, the Canadian automobile parts manufacturer Magna International Inc. will break ground in 1986 for a 200,000-sq.-foot plant on a 50-acre site near Nashville.

employing 600 people with a $44 million investment," said Jay R. Hedges, director of Commerce and Community Affairs.

"And Zedco Inc., a heavy machinery component plant, is building a new 100,000-sq.-foot facility on a 10-acre site in Freeport employing 100 workers initially. By 1987, Zedco expects to employ 270 workers with a $5.3 million investment overall."

Also, Chrysler is undergoing a major retrofit and expansion project at the Belvidere plant, training 3,000 workers to assemble a streamlined version of the Omni/Horizon model.

"All of these projects, large or small, expansion or new, contribute greatly to solidifying Illinois' industrial base."

Proposal to curb acid rain called costly to Illinoisans

Illinois Power Co. testified last week before a Congressional subcommittee in Washington against proposed acid rain legislation.

The company's opposition to the Sikorski-Waxman bill (H.R. 4867) was outlined May 7 in testimony by Vice President Porter J. Womeldorf.

Illinois Power said:

1. Scientific evidence demonstrates there is no factual basis to support the emissions reductions called for in the bill.

2. Technology available for reducing nitrogen oxide emissions from cyclone boilers is extremely limited and largely unproven.

3. An acid rain control fund established by the bill to help defray utility compliance costs would be inadequate.

4. The bill would have a significant economic impact on Illinois Power's customers. Illinois Power's estimated compliance costs would mean an 18 percent to 21 percent increase in electric bills for residential customers.

"Scientific studies continue to conclude that the farther a source (of emissions) is from a receptor (affected area), the less the source will contribute to the acidity of the rain at the receptor," Womeldorf testified.

He said sulfur dioxide emissions from the four major utilities in Illinois have increased by 41 percent since 1970.

The fund, designed to defray utility compliance costs, would receive approximately $7 million annually from Illinois Power customers, based on 198 sales of electricity. But those customers would not receive any benefit from the fund, Womeldorf said.

He estimated the bill would cost Illinois Power customers $12.9 billion to $17.3 billion between 1989 and 2024. In the first full year of the bill's impact, the local gas and electric utility would pay $848 million for pollution control equipment and another $13 million for increased operation and maintenance expenses, he said.

Senator assails Thompson on Build Illinois delays, publicity

Gov. James Thompson's penchant for putting up signs around the state for "Build Illinois" projects advertising himself drew fire from the Senate Democrats last week.

Appropriations Committee Chairman Sen. Howard Carroll, D-Columbia, passed around enlarged photos of a big sign at the Granite City State Park lodge in Southern Illinois which touted it as a "Build Illinois" project, with Thompson's name also in large letters.

Carroll said the lodge renovation project was funded out of a program passed a year before Build Illinois was authorized. The project was financed primarily by a tax on soda.

Thompson attended the dedication starting the renovation and expansion of the Pere Marquette State Park Lodge last fall, and a large "Build Illinois" banner was unfurled. That project also is not part of Build Illinois.

Later, Carroll also objected to numerous signs erected along the recently completed four-lane Route 54 between LaSalle and Rockford. They feature Thompson's name in big letters and the Build Illinois designation.

Although funds from Build Illinois are included in that project, Carroll said it had been started before the program began.

Carroll also criticized Thompson's aide assigned to the Build Illinois program, Mark Huddle, for failing to appear before the committee, which had been scheduled to consider reappropriations and new projects under Build Illinois.

No explanation was given the committee by Thompson's office for the absence of Huddle, Carroll said.

He said the committee had numerous questions to ask about the program. They included why so little of the money slated for this fiscal year, ending June 30, had actually been spent so far and why several projects Thompson had indicated last year would be in the second year of the program had since been dropped from the project list.

A spokesman has said some authorized projects have not been started because of the time required to prepare detailed plans and specifications.

The Build Illinois public works program was enacted last July after the legislative session was extended for several days because of partisan disagreements.

Driving suspensions 10 times more numerous in county, state

Statistics for the first quarter of 1986 show Illinois' new DUI law has resulted in a sharp increase in the number of driver license suspensions for drunk driving. Secretary of State Jim Edgar said, "Since Jan. 1, when the new DUI law took effect, 93 percent of first-time drunk driving offenders have lost driving privileges. Under the old law, only 10 percent of first offenders lost their licenses."

As of April 10, 7,594 driver license suspensions and revocations were in effect for 1986 DUI arrests, compared to 699 for the same period in 1985. Suspensions now take effect 46 days following a DUI arrest compared to an average five months under the old law.

Madison County has had 217 lose privileges, with another 173 pending, there were 12 suspensions in the same period of 1985.

"The new law has taken more than 10 times as many drunk drivers off of our roads and therefore is making highways safer for all drivers," Edgar said. "This indicates clearly that the law is working and it has achieved my major goal from last year of swift and certain punishment for DUI offenders."

The DUI (driving under the influence) law was approved last year as a result of a legislative compromise bill derived from proposals introduced by the Illinois DUI Task Force, which Edgar chaired, and lawyer associations. He said many groups could share credit for the success of the new DUI laws, including police officers, circuit clerks, state's attorneys and the courts.

The success of the new law requires diligence, perseverance and extra work from many thousands of people, but that work is beginning to pay off in the form of heightened public awareness, safer roads and saved lives," Edgar said.

Other data released shows that while the average blood alcohol content (BAC) of those arrested and suspended for DUI is 0.16 percent, for one-third of all DUI offenders registered a BAC of 0.20 percent or greater. The legal level of intoxication in Illinois is 0.10 percent.

"This shows that the typical person arrested is not someone who has had just one or two drinks after work," Edgar said. "The typical drunk driving offender has had considerably more than that, and 35 percent of those arrested are at least double drunk."

"The new law also is responsible for providing other data, never before available, which profiles the drunk driver."

"The average age of a DUI offender is 32. Nine percent of those arrested for DUI are under 21 years of age, while 56 percent are under 35 years old."

"Males made up most DUI arrests, accounting for 88 percent and first offenders account for 90 percent of DUI arrests."

Time to fix the mailbox

The U.S. Postal Service has designated May 19-24 as "Mailbox Improvement Week."

"Each year a week in May is set aside to remind customers on rural, city motorized and contract delivery routes to examine and improve, where necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes," Granite City Postmaster Larry Wood said.

There are approved traditional and contemporary mailbox designs. A customer-designed rural box needs the prior approval of the postmaster before it can be installed.

Wood said, "One last safety caution from the Postal Service: some mailbox supports are so massive (heavy metal posts, concrete, farm equipment filled with concrete) they are damaging vehicles and causing serious injuries to people who accidentally strike them. The Federal Highway Administration has suggested mailbox mounting and support designs that post offices will share with their customers."

"The purpose is to call attention to the need to provide mail receptacles that are conveniently located, safe to use, neat in appearance and designed to protect the mail from the weather," Wood said.

"There is no question that neat, attractive mailboxes improve the appearance of country roads and suburban streets. The Postal Service points out, however, that Mailbox Improvement Week means more than eye appeal."

"Say that an old, dented box has sharp, cutting edges or that the receptacle is too small, too hard to reach or made inaccessible by obstructions," Wood said. "In such cases, the mail would be stamped undeliverable and the customer would have to come to the post office to pick it up. We need the cooperation of our customers to maintain service at its highest level."

Postal regulations require that rural and contract route carriers must have access to mailboxes without having to leave their vehicles. Such boxes must be located on the right-hand side of the road in the carrier's direction of travel where traffic conditions would endanger a carrier driving to the left to reach the boxes. The boxes also must be placed to conform with state laws and highways regulations.

Customers are requested to remove obstructions including vehicles, trash cans and snow that make delivery difficult.

For both suburban curbside and rural roadside boxes, the Postal Service requests a height of 3 1/2 to 4 feet from the bottom of the box to ground level. The address should be clearly printed on the receptacle to assure more efficient delivery.

Reserves balance Bi-State budget

Carl Mathias of Granite City, chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency board, has announced board approval of a $24,101,195 transit operating budget for fiscal year 1987, which begins July 1, 1986.

In addition, $935,000 to be passed through for developmentally disabled transit riders service was approved. The budget includes no planned fare increase and is 3.6 percent higher than the 1986 budget.

Funding for operating the transit system comes from estimated passenger fare revenue of $24.4 million; federal grants of $3.4 million, down 20 percent from 1986; $16.8 million in City of St. Louis funds; up 5 percent from 1986, consisting of $15.6 million for operations and $1.2 million for capital improvements.

Also, St. Louis County funding of $30 million, down 6.7 percent from 1986, consisting of $27.9 million for operations and the developmentally disabled and $2.1 million for capital improvements; Illinois Department of Transportation grants of $7.9 million; and St. Clair and Madison County funding of $2.9 million and $1.3 million, respectively.

The overall Illinois funding is a slight increase over 1986. The State of Illinois will also provide $1.1 million for capital improvements.

Mathias said, "Based on the proposed reductions in federal and St. Louis County funding, Bi-State will have to draw $3.3 million from its reserves to balance the 1987 transit operating budget. When we do that, there will be no more reserves, so this is a one-time solution."

"Since we can't continue to balance the budget in this manner, another approach must be developed in coming years."

The capital budget for expenses involving construction or the purchase of equipment will be $27.5 million in fiscal 1987.

R. Raleigh D'Adamo, Bi-State executive director, in presenting the budget to the board, said, "The operating and capital improvements will directly benefit our passengers by providing them with new services, new buses and new shelters."

"Up to 121 new buses will be purchased beginning in fiscal 1987, and this month and next we are introducing three new services."

"On May 12 our North St. Louis County Call-A-Ride service began and on May 19 service along the riverfront will start when we introduce the Levee Line. On June 2, the second part of our downtown St. Louis transit improvement that we call Easy Streets will be introduced when we reduce fares on local buses in the downtown zone."

Jeff funding permits, I am anxious to accelerate the creation and promotion of new and existing express routes from the surrounding counties since these are the ones that will have a great impact on reducing congestion on our major arterial highways and on the Mississippi River bridges."

D'Adamo said improvements in passenger shelters are a priority project. "The scratched lexan plastic in shelters will be replaced, and cleaning and maintenance of the shelters will be increased."

More shelters will be purchased. "Our goal," D'Adamo said, "is to show our customers we care about them and want to provide them the best possible service."

Bail, veterans on fall ballot amendments

Gov. James R. Thompson has recommended the Illinois Senate for approving a constitutional amendment to permit judges to deny bail to accused felons posing a threat to the community.

"This action gives voters the chance to decide whether they want judges in Illinois to have the power to lock up dangerous criminals pending trial," the governor said.

Because Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 22 has been approved by a three-fifths majority of both chambers of the General Assembly, it will be placed on the ballot Nov. 4. SJR 22 was approved 46-11 last week in the Senate, and had been approved in the House by a vote of 80-30 on April 22.

Under the current law, judges can deny bail due to the danger to the community or for the protection of society only for crimes carrying a penalty of life imprisonment or capital punishment. The amendment would extend that to defendants charged with Class X offenses.

"This is an amendment that carefully defines the rights of judges — after a full hearing with evidence presented by a state's attorney showing that a Class X defendant awaiting trial would be a physical danger to the community or to an individual in the community — to order that bail should be withheld," Thompson said.

"Judges in other states have this power. Judges in the federal system have this power. It's a good way for the people of Illinois to protect themselves."

The amendment would require the state to reimburse local governments for the costs associated with increased incarcerations resulting from bail denials.

Also on the fall ballot will be real estate tax reductions for veterans' organizations. Sponsor of this proposed amendment is Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville.

A previous amendment to reduce such taxes was defeated. It had specified patriotic groups, which some voters said was too vague a term.

What you and she have in common.

The Statue of Liberty's monumental form is taken from the likeness of the human body in posture and in meaning. Both are beautiful, both are subject to structural problems.

The lady of liberty has gone through her period of pain and is now being brought back to health with structural renovation. To support the effort, cooperating doctors of chiropractic throughout the U.S. are contributing funds through the American Chiropractic Association.

Just as the Statue of Liberty fell into disrepair, so health can deteriorate if you do not allow preventive maintenance program.

Please, for the sake of your health, stop in our clinic for periodic examinations.

A moo-valous time Farm animals visit students

What do you do when you can't take the students on a visit to a farm? You bring the farm to the students, of course. And that's just what Mary Jane Davis, a teacher at Prather Elementary School, arranged, and the animals were a hit.

Through the cooperation of some of her neighbors in Worden, Ill., a variety of farm animals were transported to the school Tuesday for a first-hand, in fact, a hands-on experience with animals many take for granted. The event was coordinated by the Madison County Farm Bureau.

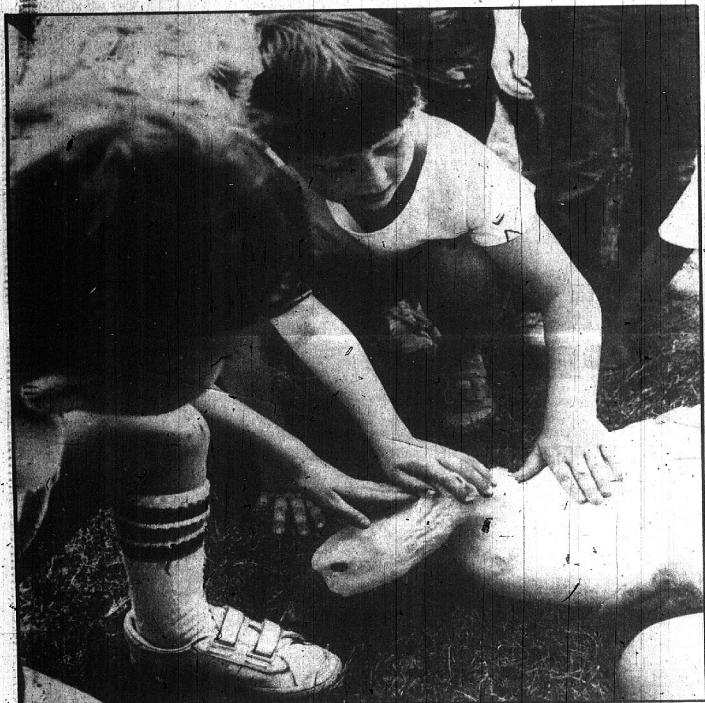

Cows, goats, a rooster, a pig, a goose and a duck were on display with many able to be petted by the inquisitive children. For many this was the first time they had seen these animals up close and face to face.

Some were able to give a calf a drink of water with a big "baby" bottle and all were given a chance to pet the calf, a rooster, goat, a piglet and a large, snow-white goose. Many of the students talked about how different some the animals felt. Others bombarded their teachers with question after question, trying to learn more about these "strange" animals, many they were seeing and experiencing for the first time.

The moos, quacks, honks, oinks and baa-a-a-a-s were now not as foreign as they used to be.

STILL A BABY, this 6-week-old Holstein calf is given a drink of water by first-grader Christina Allman.

FIRST-GRADER Carrie Bailey pets a snow-white, male goose.

AN INQUISITIVE YOUNGSTER gets face-to-face with Susie, the calf.

Anderson Brings Comedy To Fox

Harry Anderson of "Night Court" will perform an evening of comedy and magic at the American Theatre at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 7.

Harry Anderson is a performer of unusual versatility, having appeared on "Saturday Night Live" and "Late Night With David Letterman" before starring as the eccentric Judge Harry T. Stone. But it was his abilities as a humorist, magician and illusionist that gave Anderson his start in entertainment.

Critics have raved about his eccentric and bizarre stage show. A Variety reviewer called Anderson an "imaginative and highly personable character," mixing
